Service desks are the most used area of the of the library. They serve not only the patron but each and every member of the staff as well. This means that it must be complete functional on the inside and aesthetically pleasing on the outside. Whether it be your main circulation desk or smaller information desks or kiosks throughout your library, we can help you achieve both functionality and aesthetics. Since most desks are personally designed, we've included many installation photos as well as some "standards" from our various manufacturers. If you're in need of new desks or kiosks, please allow us to help you design a piece perfect for your library!

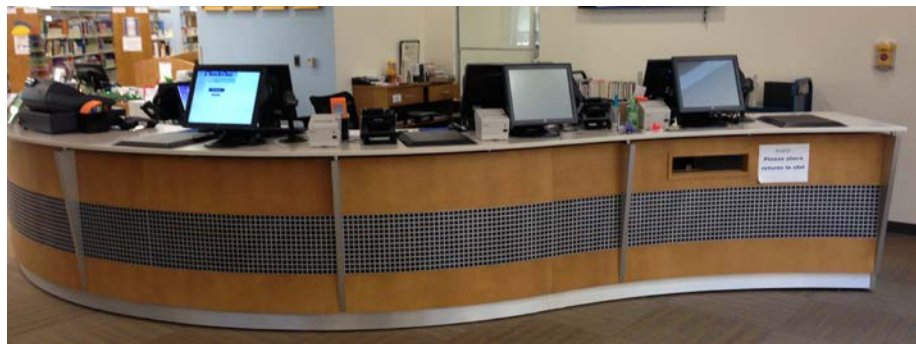

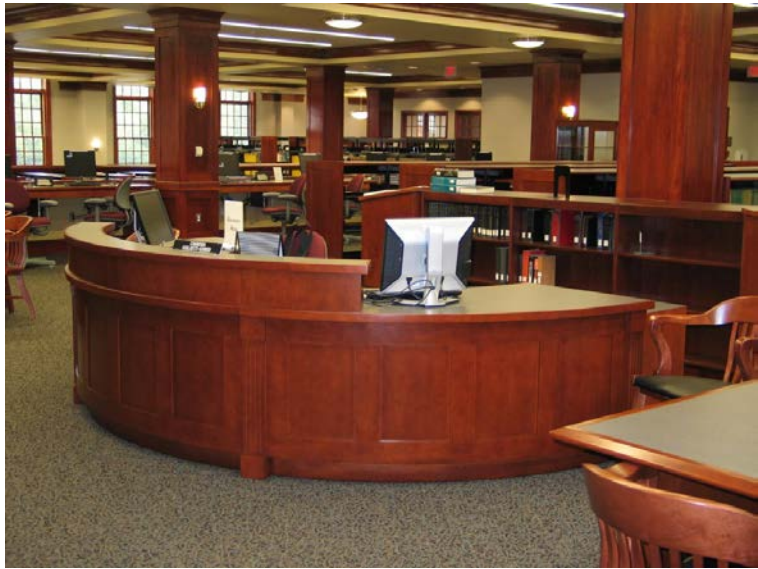

Accessories are an important part of desk functionality and go beyond file and pencil drawers. Power, wire management, keyboard trays, monitor arms, and sit stand units are accessories that help make work life a little easier.

Electrical comes in many configurations and can be customized to fit your specific needs. In surface, on surface, outlets and USB ports with varying cord or connector lengths are all options to insure your desk gives you everything you need.
